Presented by the STRONG STAR Consortium and The University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio

Audience & Details

Now in its 8th year, the San Antonio Combat PTSD Conference annually draws an international audience of leaders in the field of military psychological health who gather to hear the state of the science on preventions and treatments for post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) and co-occurring conditions. Participants include researchers, clinicians, leaders and policy makers within the Departments of Defense and Veterans Affairs as well as from academia and the civilian sector. Numerous military personnel, veterans and community members with an interest in the mental health needs of our nation's war fighters also join the proceedings.

The conference is presented by the STRONG STAR Consortium based at The University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio (UT Health San Antonio). STRONG STAR is a multi-institutional research group working to develop and evaluate the most effective early interventions possible for the prevention, detection, diagnosis, and treatment of psychological health conditions in military personnel, veterans, and first responders.
